The contractors of the new Orange brook reservoir begin to-day constructing the core wall of the dam and the walls of the waste-way. This work has been delayed over a month on account of the sheet piling which had to be driven when the sand was discovered in the trench. The piling is not all driven yet, but it is far enough along so that work on the wall can be started.

To-night at the opera house William Lawrence will make his first appearance in a rural comedy of New England life, entitled, "Uncle Dave Holcomb." Mr. Lawrence is surrounded by a most competent cast, including the charming and dainty ingenue, Miss Marion Shirley, so well and favorably known as "Madge" in "Old Kentucky," and "Kate Brewster" in "Way Down East." Many features, including the milkmaid's quartet, the village orchestra and others, will bring back old memories.

Dr. John A. Hall, formerly of this city and now located at Hillsboro, Texas, as a dentist, is spending a short time in Barre while in the East on a month's vacation. He will go to Three Rivers, P. Q., to visit relatives.

The Ladies of the Church of the Good Shepherd will serve on Thursday evening from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock baked beans, hot brown bread and butter, pickles, meat salad, hot rolls, apple sauce, assorted cake, tea and coffee. Price, 25 cents each.

Bartholomew Roach of Montpelier pleaded guilty to a first offense of intoxication in city court this morning and was fined a total of $11.00, which he said he could pay by drawing on his account in the Capital Savings bank at Montpelier. He was arrested at nine o'clock last evening on Granite street by Special Officer George L. Morris. When asked by Judge Scott how old he was and where he was born, Roach said he was born in Ireland, but he did not know how old he was. "What age do you call yourself?" asked the judge. "Well," replied Roach, "it will be only me judgment, but I must be somewhere between 20 and 60."

The County Sheriff.

"The County Sheriff," a new play of Western life, will be seen at the opera house on next Friday night. The story concerns a valuable mining claim owned by a Mrs. Blake and her daughter, Tuesday. One Den Porter, leader of a band of horse thieves, knowing the value of the claim, attempts to obtain it by pretending to be the rightful heir of Gordon Blake, who had left the property to Mrs. Blake. He is thwarted in his attempts to obtain possession through the efforts of Happy Hazard, the county sheriff, Porter, for revenge, kidnaps Tuesday, and in a fight with the sheriff and his men Mrs. Farley, the proprietress of a dance hall, is shot, Porter accusing Tuesday of the crime. She is acquitted, only to be again accused of poisoning Cal Wade, one of Porter's gang. The claim in the meantime has been worked by Chancy Clayton, Mrs. Blake's old time friend, and Sir Arkwright, who furnished the money. Hazard proves that Wade killed himself and that Porter had no rightful claim to the property, and in the end of course Happy Hazard wins Tuesday and everybody feels happy.
